THE DNIPRO STORY

The Dnipro Ukrainian Cultural Center is a fixture in Buffalo's Downtown East neighborhood. It is a vibrant part of the rich cultural, ethnic and architectural landscape of Western New York. Dnipro is both a repository of Ukrainian culture for the region and part of the thriving Buffalo Arts scene as a venue for the Torn Space Theater and Squeaky Wheel. It is a site for many large-scale events for a wide range of organizations including Sister Cities and more.

This sprawling three story, 44,000 sq. ft. structure was purchased by the Ukrainian-American community from the City of Buffalo in 1955. The building was originally built in 1914 as a German fraternal organization and changed ownership several times. It fell into disrepair and was eventually abandoned.

Dnipro is named after the largest river in Ukraine. Most of the founding members were Ukrainian immigrants displaced by World War II. They sought to establish a community center to express their cultural identity, share their heritage and celebrate important events. By day the founders worked in local factories and at night repaired and restored the building from its dilapidated state.

In 2014, the building will celebrate its 100th anniversary. Dnipro solidly stands as a proud asset for the entire WNY region.
